

Get School Psych'd Rules

Purpose:

School Psychology graduate student teams will compete head to head to answer questions from the 10 NASP domains. The team with the most points after the end of 10 questions is winner and will go on to compete with other teams.

The winner will not only be in our newsletter but prizes will be awarded.

Let's have fun and so off our skills!!!

Teams:

4 Graduate Students per team.

Format:

Teams will "buzz" in to answer questions. If answered correctly, the team will get points.

If answered incorrectly the other team has the opportunity to answer that question.

At the end of 10 questions, the team with the most points will advance to the next round.

The number of rounds will depend on the number of teams sign up. There will be tie breaker questions if needed.

Questions will be short answer.

Sample questions:

Who was the First school Psychologist?

What refers to the consistency of test scores when a testing procedure is repeated on a group of individuals?

This process is voluntary, not used to delay or deny a parent's right to a due process hearing, and is conducted by a qualified or impartial mediator.
